

Transforming Music One Guitar at a Time

designed to be Louder.

An American icon, Fender was founded in Southern California and has established a worldwide influence that extends from the studio to the stage—and beyond.

Fender's reach transcends instruments and accessories, encompassing a range of innovative digital experiences that fuel musical expression and serve players at every stage—on every stage.

Leo Fender once said that all artists were angels, and it was his, "job to give them wings to fly." The company is proud to carry on giving new players the tools they need to start their musical legacy.
